COMPLAINTS PROCEDURE

Here at York Road Group Practice we always try to give you the best service possible. There may be a time when you feel that this has not happened.

We hope that most problems can be sorted out easily and quickly, often at the time they arise and with the person concerned. If your problem cannot be sorted out in this way and you wish to make a complaint. We would like you to let us know as soon as possible - ideally, within a matter of days or at the most a few weeks - this enables us to establish what happened more easily. If it is not possible to do that, please let us have details of your complaint. Please ask at reception for a complaints form or write to us.

Complaints should be addressed to The Complaints Administrator. They will explain the complaints procedure to you and will make sure that your concerns are dealt with promptly. It will be a great help if you are as specific as possible about your complaint.

We hope that, if you have a problem, you will use our practice complaints procedure first. We believe this will give us the best chance of putting right whatever has gone wrong and an opportunity to improve our practice. This does not affect your right to approach NHS England if you feel you cannot raise your complaint with us or you are dissatisfied with the result of your investigation, you should contact:

WE MAY USE SOME OF THE INFORMATION FOR OTHER REASONS

Anyone who receives information from us about you is under a legal duty to keep it confidential.

You may be receiving care from another organisation as well as the NHS. To enable us to work together for your benefit, we may share information.

We may use some of the information for other reasons, such as to help us protect the health of the public generally, e.g. Notification of infectious diseases. Reports will extract the information from your records. This in turn enables the NHS to run efficiently by making plans for the future, using the figures passed to them, and looking at ways the numbers can be reduced. Training the staff, enabling them to carry out a review so that the care they provide is always of the highest standard.

Information may also be needed to carry out medical and other health research for the benefit of everyone. Research projects are always approved by a local research ethics committee. If anything to do with research involved you personally, you will be contacted to see if you are willing to take part.

Improvements and advances in medical care and treatment can only occur by monitoring current practices. Sometimes managers and planners as well as researchers may need to examine records to assist in this process. All data that could identify you personally is removed.

In addition, the NHS maintains a number of registers for diseases such as cancer, to allow the NHS to plan the services it provides. These registers are used to monitor the effectiveness of treatments, therefore over time improve the outcomes for specific conditions. Tests and the transferring of your data is carried out under secure and carefully controlled conditions.

The law controls the sharing of very sensitive personal types of data. We continually review ways in which confidentiality improvements can be made.

It is important for us to know and understand the views of our patients and users of our service including carers. If you provide consent your friends, relatives and carers can be kept up to date with the progress of your treatment.

HOW TO ACCESS YOUR RECORDS

In line with government guidelines we have now enabled patients to have online access to view their medical record. Being able to see your medical record might help you manage your medical conditions. It also means that you can access it from anywhere in the world should you require medical treatment. To apply for access to your records please bring two forms of identification (one being photo ID) to the surgery where you can complete a form and a receptionist will print out your log on details.

Patients under 18yrs can have access to a summary of their records which includes medication and allergies

If the GPs feel it is detrimental to a patient's health to allow them to view their records, their application will be refused and a letter of explanation will be given.

SUMMARY CARE RECORD

The record will contain information about any medicines you are taking, allergies you suffer from and any bad reactions to medicines you have had.

The record will be available to authorised healthcare staff providing your care anywhere in England, but they will ask your permission before they look at it. It means if you have an accident or become ill, healthcare staff treating you will have immediate access to important information about your health.

Children under 16 will automatically have a summary care record unless a parent or guardian chooses to opt them out. You can choose not to have a summary care record and you can change your mind at any time by informing us.

WHO TO CONTACT FOR FURTHER INFORMATION

If at any time you would like to know more about how we use your information and how it is maintained, handled and looked after, you can speak to the person in charge of your care or to the Caldicott guardian here in the Practice. Here at York Road your Caldicott guardian is Dr MacDonald or Cathy Bedford or visit the NHS web site on www.NHS.uk/confidentiality.

HOME VISITS

Doctors are happy to do home visits for patients who are too ill or frail to attend the surgery, but as they are time consuming it is much appreciated if patients can come to the surgery. Requests for home visits are taken up to 11.30am. Please explain to the receptionist what is wrong so that more urgent calls can be seen to first.

E-CONSULT

This is a service that allows patients to consult with a GP online. It also offers an alternative to calling or coming into the surgery for common, more minor problems. Using this service can also help patient's access self-help service and alternative options available (e.g. pharmacy & symptom checkers). Patients simply follow the instructions on screen and answer the questions, once completed the practice will receive an email and respond to this within 48 hours. You can access this service on the Practices website.

LATE ARRIVALS

PATIENTS WHO DO NOT ATTEND FOR APPOINTMENTS

We always ask that patients cancel their appointments if they are unable to attend and the appointment can then be offered to another patient.

Due to the number of patients failing to attend for their appointment this means that you may not be able to see the doctor on the day you wish to.

In an attempt to try and resolve this, the practice has developed the following policy. If you fail to attend appointments without informing us we will write to you asking if there are any specific problems preventing you from letting us know. If you repeatedly fail to attend for appointments you may be removed from the practice list and have to find an alternative GP Practice.

THE NHS IS DEDICATED TO PROTECTING YOUR INFORMATION

Everyone working for the NHS has a responsibility and a legal duty to protect your personal information, so that it is disclosed to unauthorised bodies or people.

Your information is recorded on paper and in computer files. It is treated with strict confidential care. We need to move electronic information about you from one computer system to another, by extracting the data and modifying it ready to be passed on. Tests are made regularly on the data to check that it is getting transferred correctly.

YOUR DATA AND THE NHS

This part of our leaflet explains why the practice, hospitals and other community services in Cheshire ask for information about you, how we use the information and the how we make sure the information is kept confidential.

WHY WE ASK FOR PERSONAL INFORMATION

In order to provide the best possible healthcare, we need to maintain proper records of your health and make sure that it is available to the relevant people whenever and wherever possible.

The doctor needs to make notes about any diagnosis, test result; treatments including drug prescriptions and other information that you provide that are relevant to the treatment of your condition.

Nurses and other health professionals will have access to these records, and will add their own notes, as part of your overall healthcare.

Secretaries, receptionists and other clerical staff need access to some of your records in order to complete administrative tasks such as booking appointments and for communicating with you and health care professionals.
